

“It is in exchanging the gifts of the earth that you shall find abundance and be satisfied. Yet unless the exchange be in love and kindly justice it will but lead some to greed and others to hunger.”

(Kahlil Gibran, 1883-1931, Syrian writer, poet and artist, from The Prophet.)